

At what stage of the data lifecycle would you establish which third-party vendors in your supply chain will have access to the data you are collecting?

Data Storage

Data Acquisition

Data Processing

Data Sharing

Correct

It is in the Data Sharing phase of the data lifecycle that you establish which third-party vendors will have access to your data, and how they will be held accountable to the same regulations you are liable for.

Question 1

In which phase of the data lifecycle do you establish the data you need, the amount of data you need, and how you intend to use the data you are collecting.

Data Acquisition

Data Processing

Data Retention

Data Sharing

Correct

In the Data Acquisition phase, you establish the data you need to collect, the amount of data you need, and its intended use.

Question 2

The process of _____ abstracts the presentation layer without changing the data in the database physically.

Anonymization

Encryption

Data Profiling

Pseudonymization

Correct

Using Anonymization, the presentation layer is abstracted without changing the data in the database itself.